

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Direct Systems Partners with VOS™ to deliver the leading software to the moving & storage industry.

United States 6, August 2009 – Direct Systems announces a partnership with VOS™ to provide hosting of their #1 enterprise software for the moving & storage industry. The relationship promotes rapid deployment, high security and reliability to immediately expand the market reach for Direct Systems and leverages the “no server” cost savings inherent in VOS™ hosted services.

According to Howard Worrell, president and founder of Direct Systems, “VOS™ makes our software accessible anywhere there is Internet. No matter how many offices our customers have, they now can easily work together as if they are in one physical location.”

Historically software developers publish system requirements (hardware and operating system) for their product. “With VOS™ we are able to have our customers up and running in days with no need to purchase additional hardware. Our sales people are able to provide live demos of our product while meeting with the prospect in their office. Instantly they can see the benefits of our leading edge products”, says Worrell.

VOS™ adds Direct Systems to an extensive list of full version, name brand business software provided securely via the Internet. Unlike many “web” software versions, programs provided by VOS™ look and feel like locally installed programs. Since there is nothing new to learn, businesses throughout the U.S., Canada & Internationally get immediate results with VOS™.
